

---

Keith Collins became President & CEO of the St. John's International Airport Authority in 2005 following a long career in the telecom and information technology industries. Keith has a wealth of local, national and international business experience and has served in a number of senior management roles, including the position as senior executive of the province's largest information technology company. Under his leadership, the Airport Authority has grown its passenger volume and airline capacity at twice the national average, has grown the employee complement to support the strategic goals of the organization and has won awards for achieving a positive airport experience for its passengers. Keith has been recognized as one of the Top 50 CEOs in Atlantic Canada by Atlantic Business Magazine and serves as the President of the Atlantic Canada Airports Association.